

Botham

TASTING NOTES

22 Yards, London Dry Gin

THE STORY

Sir Ian Botham is one of the greatest cricketers England has ever produced. Known as an All-Rounder of the sport, his bowling was as feared by his opponents as his batting triumphs were rejoiced by his team mates and country. Now enjoying life away from the cricket pitch, Sir Ian has had the opportunity to realise other life long passions; namely wine and the art of making it. In 2018, Sir Ian launched his first range of wines bearing his name. In less than a year, the range has collected 6 international wine awards and Sir Ian has been praised as an accomplished winemaker in his own right. During the development of the wine range, Sir Ian was determined to also turn his hand to making his other favourite tittle, Gin.

Working alongside Master Gin Distiller, Deirdre Bohane, at the renowned distillery, West Cork Distillers in Ireland, Sir Ian and gin experts in his own family, worked meticulously to create their perfect blend.

THE NAME

22 Yards is well known in the cricketing world as the length of the pitch that the magnificent game is played on. Games are won or lost depending on how the ball travels that short but highly significant distance. Having taken some 1,700 wickets in his professional career, Sir Ian knows this only too well! We firmly believe it was fate that having spent a career thinking about 22 yards, it took 22 months to create and perfect this first, small batch London Dry Gin release and as a result, we couldn't think of a more apt name to give it!

TASTING NOTE

This London Dry Gin is smooth yet refreshing. Strong notes of citrus are balanced with spice and hints of vanilla. This spice is enhanced with bitter orange peel and fresh root ginger to give warmth whilst the vanilla sweetness gives a soft lingering undertone.
